„ALTERNATIVE BIODIESEL FEEDSTOCKS: EXTRACTION AND CHARACTERIZATION“

As the biodiesel industry shifts away from food crops, its focus is moving toward alternative non-food feedstocks. This seminar examines the potential of industrial crops and their impact on the properties of the fuel produced. In the practical session, we will demonstrate oil extraction techniques and feedstock suitability assessment. Participants will gain hands-on experience in performing key quality tests and interpreting data to predict fuel performance.
